Cooking School To Be Staged By Canyon News

"The Bride Wakes Up" Is Feature to Be Brought Here

Free Entertainment To Be Given Three Days at the Olympic

There is always something new under the sun.

Entertaining proof of that statement will be presented by The Canyon News, which is bringing to the Olympic Theater a motion picture that pioneers in fresh, stimulating treatment of the oldest and most important subject in the world—Homemaking.

Long ago the Cooking School graduated from a curiosity to a popular necessity in many parts of the country. Now it has graduated again, leaping this time into Hollywood stardom.

For this is no routine lecture, no methodical demonstration which The Canyon News will give to the women of the community for three days without charge, starting October 13th.

The News takes a genuine pride in being among the first to sponsor "The Bride Wakes Up," a full-length feature picture, directed and filmed in Hollywood, with a competent cast to interpret the appealing story.

Women young and old, and men too, will appreciate the humanness of this romantic screen story, in which home problems have been approached from an entirely new angle. Entertainment, profitable instruction, humor and romance are woven deftly into a production which abounds in ingenious camera studies and remarkable close-ups. The camera has modernized the Cooking School, magnifying its benefits, losing none of its hospitable, friendly charm.

In fact, there are close-ups of a new chocolate layer cake and a lemon chiffon pie that are destined to send the hungry audience hustling home to duplicate the culinary triumphs. Free recipe sheets each day will provide added incentive.

Experienced housekeepers will thrill to the adventures of the winsome bride, whose husband begins to boil when he finds that she can't No. 1 On Last Page)

R. W. RATCLIFF INJURED

R. W. Ratcliff will come to Canyon from Pampa today to spend some time with Mrs. Ratcliff. He was released from the hospital last week where he spent two weeks as the result of an automobile wreck. The car in which he was riding with a friend was struck by a truck. Mr. Ratcliff received a deep cut on the right side of his neck, and his knee and elbow badly injured. It is believed that it will be several months before he will be able to resume his carpenter trade.

Rain Friday Evening In Canyon Amounted to .47 of an Inch Canyon received another rain Friday evening which amounted to .47 of an inch. As was the case in other rains of this month, the rain of Friday was very spotted, not nearly all sections of the county being covered.

The total moisture for the month in Canyon now amounts to 2.88 inches. The total for the year has been brought up to 15.3 inches.

There are several parts of the county which has not received more than an inch this month.

Wheat has been planted generally over the county excepting in those places which have received too small amount of moisture for planting.

Bufs Face Ugliest Team World Friday

Capt. Si Marchbanks Is Out of Lineup Because of Old Injury; Co-Captain to Be Named

Captain Si Marchbanks is definitely out of the Buffalo football lineup for the year. His bad knee gave away again in Friday night's game and Coach Al Baggett has decided that he will not run the risk of having the husky captain permanently injured by keeping him on the squad. Si will continue acting as captain, and will work with the coaches throughout the season, like he did last year when unable to play because of the injured knee. A co-captain will be elected following Friday night's game.

Bidding for recognition as the "nation's ugliest football team," Coach Gene Taylor brings his Danell Baker Hillbillies to Buffalo Stadium Friday night to collide with Coach Al Baggett's West Texas State gridmen. The game, which begins at eight o'clock, will be the second for both teams.

Both clubs opened their seasons with easy wins last week-end. The Hillbillies romped to touchdown to touchdown at the expense of Weatherford College for a 51-0 victory. The Buffaloes trampled the Panhandle Aggies 33 to 0.

The Buffaloes charges took second place in the Texas Conference, and with a string of lettermen returning will be in the heat of the race again this season. Coach Taylor employs the unbalanced line, with the short punt formation.

The sixteen members of the Hillbillie club who have shaved their heads in preparation for their current novel grid year are: J. M. Payne, Hillsboro; Glen Kagnon, San Angelo; Huck Skiles, Brownwood; J. P. Thompson, Talpa; Alvin Whitmore, Hillsboro; Alonzo Bittick, Harlingen; Harold Durham, Brownwood; Alvin Stanford, Hillsboro; Phil Barnhart, Harlingen; Davy Carroll, Coleman; Bill Stewart, Coleman; Aubrey Wilhelm, Leo English, Sweetwater; Hugh Tursell, Blum; and Kara Newton, Hamilton.

With the renewal of Captain Si Marchbanks' leg injury, Ed Williams of Greenville will probably take over the duties at the pivot post. Williams played consistent ball with last year's Yearling edition, and has been showing much promise in the fall workouts. Other candidates for the position are Melvyn Cullender of Hartley and Jack Edmondson of Quitaque.

The remainder of the team that will take the field from the first are: Walling and Neilson, ends; Stephenson and Harp, tackles; Hinger and Horton, guards; Thomas, quarterback; Slack and Lyde, halfbacks; and Dow, fullback.

Worth A. Jennings Has Stroke Tuesday a. m. at Home

Worth A. Jennings had a stroke of paralysis at his home Tuesday morning about 8:00 o'clock. He is reported to be improving but so far the extent of his illness has not been determined. He had a good night's rest last night.

Mr. Jennings was working on his car getting ready to go to Amarillo when he was stricken. Miss Mattie Foster was passing the Jennings home, saw him fall and called to members of his family.

His left side is affected, but it is hoped that affliction is only temporary.

Mr. Jennings is one of the real pioneers of the Plains. He has served as sheriff and tax collector and as county judge before becoming manager of the Consumer's Fuel Association.

Gold Stars Are Given To 3 Boys

Award Achievement During Past Year in 4-H Club Work

Glen Olson, Jo Vern Hales, and Harry Fincks, Jr., Randall county 4-H Club members have been given the 4-H Gold Star award by the State 4-H Club Committee for high achievements in 4-H club work.

Each year one hundred boys over the state receive this award. To be eligible the boy must have completed at least three years of club work, keeping accurate records on all demonstrations that he carried.

Glen Olson has had a beef calf and feed crop demonstration for the past four years, winning honors at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show in 1934 and 1936 with his beef calves.

Jo Vern Hales has carried on dairy calf demonstrations for the past five years and feed crops for the past two years. Jo has won high honors at several fairs as a live stock showman. His Holstein calves have been placed at the top in many Texas live stock shows. He was chosen by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America as the champion boy of Texas for 1936.

Harry Fincks, Jr., has carried feed crop demonstrations for three years and for the past two years his demonstrations have been among the first three in highest yields produced by 4-H club members in this county.

All of these boys are active club members this year.

Revival Meeting at Baptist Church Has Fine Interest

Rev. J. R. Hicks reports 57 additions to the local Baptist Church since the Revival meeting started last week. Rev. A. C. Huff of Tulsa is doing the preaching and the music is in charge of George Stokes.

The evening service has been changed from 8:00 o'clock to 7:45. States Rev. Hicks. He invites all citizens to come and have a part in the meeting. The interest has been fine, with good crowds since the revival started.

Range Program to Bring Small Dams

40 Dams Will Be Built By First of January Under Program

About 40 small dams are being built on ranches in Randall county in 1937 under the Range Conservation Program. Payment to the range owner for building these dams is to be made from each range operators' allowance for the year 1937 under this program. The exact amount of this allowance, which is based on the carrying capacity of each ranch, has not yet been determined. Announcement of the amount is expected to be made within the next few days.

These dams will be in addition to the ones which are being proposed under the special conservation program for the dust-bowl. Several of the range dams have already been completed and the balance must be completed by the first of January, in order that the land owners may be paid for the work under the 1937 allowance. Payments are based on the number of yards of dirt put into improved dams by the land owners.

Under this program ranch owners may employ their own engineering service, or where requested this service is furnished by County Agent W. H. Upchurch, free of any charge to land owners. Those who have signed work sheets under the range program will be notified by Mr. Upchurch, just as soon as notice is received, of the amount of money that will be allowed under the 1937 program.

Revival Meeting Will Start Sunday Methodist Church

A revival will be held at the Methodist Church beginning September 26 and lasting through October 3. The Rev. Joe Strother, pastor of the Methodist Church in Miami, will conduct services at 7:30 every evening. There will be no morning services. Rev. Quattlebaum announced.

Fifty Applications Ready for Dam Sites

W. T. Attendance Has Reached 875

Total Will Show Good Increase of Students For Semester

Enrollment total reached 875 students yesterday, according to count of information cards filled out by students for the registrar as a preliminary to registration and paying of fees.

The total was running similar to that of last year and well ahead of that of 1935, when at the close of the first three weeks, 851 were registered.

Registration will continue until September 25, after which time a fee of three dollars will be charged those entering late.

All halls and college operated boarding houses are full, according to reports from supervisors and matrons.

F. E. Savage states that the total enrollment of the W. T. training school stands around three hundred students. One hundred and sixty students are registered in the elementary grades and one hundred and forty in the high school.

Canyon Day Takes Large Percent of Citizens to Fair

Yesterday was Canyon Day at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. A large percent of the citizens of Canyon took advantage of this day to visit the fair. Both the College and public schools took a half holiday, dismissing at noon. The high school band spent the day in Amarillo, and played a concert over the radio at 4:30.

Many business houses closed for the afternoon, and those which could not close allowed members of their force to go to the fair.

The Canyon high school band was after the $100 attendance prize which was offered to the town having the largest registration. Tulsa won first place last year, with Canyon second.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

Will Be Filed Friday; Other Land Owners are Urged; Nothing Definite on Buffalo Dam

Fifty applications have been filed for dams under the new water conservation measure which was approved in the last session of congress. These applications will be taken to Amarillo tomorrow by W. A. Warren and S. H. Condon. They will be filed with A. A. Meredith district supervisor of WPA.

Other land owners are urged to file their applications at once if they expect to have dams constructed on their land.

Mr. Warren states that there have been no new developments regarding the construction of Buffalo dam south of Umlinger. He has conferred with John McCarty and Mr. Meredith this week, both of whom believe that the project is going forward as rapidly as could be expected.

Work is still underway on the land purchase part of the project. Two of the men who have this work in charge were here Tuesday interviewing the owners. No definite price has been set on the land. These men are looking into the tax valuations on the land and securing other information from which the final value of the land will be determined.

Mr. Warren insists that those who wish to secure the dams for their land make the applications without further delay. The land owner is under no obligation when the application is filed. He will not be required to share the expense of the small dam, and will not give up the title to his land. It is hoped that the government will allow the farmers to do the construction work on these dams, but this phase has not yet been worked out.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch is greatly interested in the success of this program. It will greatly supplement the range program now underway and will make possible the construction of much larger dams than the range program permits. Mr. Upchurch has forms of the application at his office and will assist land owners in making out the applications.

Secretary Wallace Outlines Conservation Program

Soil Conservation Will Be Followed Throughout Nation In Making Payments

FARMER AGREEMENT

County Agents To Be Given Complete Details Very Soon

The following is a general outline of information from the announcement of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program by Secretary Wallace. It is intended as advance information only on the general character of the 1938 program. Details as to the local application of the program will be supplied to County Agents in the near future.

"The new program," Secretary Wallace said, "represents a progressive development from the previous programs formulated under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. It follows the broad outlines of an increase in soil-conserving crops and soil-building practices to further the primary aim of soil-improvement. Goals for soil-depleting crops were fixed as a conservation."

"Four years ago agriculture's immediate problem was one of adjusting surpluses which had accumulated during the depression. As the emergency lessened the farmers began the task of working out a long time and permanent farm program. Such a program must of necessity include soil conservation and a balanced production of food and feed supplies at prices fair to consumers and growers."

"The Agricultural Conservation Program, however, is not a production control program. In the absence of other legislation, normal weather conditions over several seasons again will result in the accumulation of burdensome surpluses. But this fact does not preclude the use of the present program to further conservation and help maintain economic gains which agriculture has made since 1932."

The 1938 program was drafted with the assistance of farmers and farmer representatives from every state. Meetings were held in the field and in Washington before the principal provisions of the Plan were adopted. Flexibility to allow the adaptation of details to the (No. 2 On Last Page)

DRAGS IN A DEAD CAT

Is this nation to be dragged thru another unpleasant Klan fight?

The enemies of President Roosevelt are doing everything in their power to stir up the fight, and cause dissension in the ranks of the Democratic party.

Judge Hugo Black is used as an excuse of the present fight. Those who are raising the question do not give a whoop as to whether Black was ever a Klansman, or is a Klansman today, or intends to be one tomorrow. What they are after is the scalp of the President. They will stop at nothing to discredit Roosevelt with the people of the nation.

So far as The News is concerned, we fail to become excited over the Klan question. The News fought the Klan with might and main while it was in existence.

We looked upon the organization as an unpatriotic one, directed by men who were after the profit they could make rather than being directed by a love of country or the principles for which the Klan is supposed to stand.

A lot of our good friends were swept off their feet and joined the Klan because they thought it was a patriotic organization, and that it was only by this means that the swelling tide of crime could be suppressed. Many of them became ashamed and withdrew from the organization when popular scorn of the organization arose, and the real motive back of the Klan was revealed.

Today we do not care who was a member of the Klan, and who was not a member.

The Klan is a dead issue. The unscrupulous band of men who raise this question against Mr. Justice Black are to be scorned and feared more than was the Klan ever condemned, even when men were being whipped at night by the bedsheet gang who denied the right of trial to those with whom they did not agree.

If Justice Black is not fitted for his job, why did they not present the evidence to the Senate?

The President cannot remove him now. Impeachment charges may be filed in the House of Representatives, and the Justice given a trial before the Senate, if the House approved the impeachment charges. But this will never be done. Such a proceeding would have too much of a kick-back against those who proposed it, when they failed to substantiate the charges.

This gang chooses to rush to the newspapers and magazines where the question is being discussed from an unbiased standpoint.

Perhaps Mr. Black was a Klansman and resigned; so were many other good men, some of them right here in Canyon. Is the fact that he joined the Klan during those stirring days when patriotism was being preached any indictment against his ability as a judge? If he resigned because he did not agree with the program of the Klan, certainly he cannot be condemned.

Old Warrior Al Smith, a staunch Catholic, refused to discuss the question when urged by the bitter enemies of the President to do so. While taking his walk, it is evident that Al Smith used good judgment in refusing to go into the back alley and drag in a dead cat which stinks to high heaven and which adds nothing to the issue involved—that is, "Is Mr. Justice Black qualified to sit on the Supreme Court?"

In this late day, years after the Klan issue has died down, whoever has heard of a Klan issue being presented to the Supreme Court? Yet, the nation must endure, until they resign or die, those Justices of the Supreme Court, who have been big corporation lawyers, have always ruled in favor of the classes against the welfare of the masses; who have slapped every issue that President Roosevelt has proposed which would alleviate the pain and suffering of the people of this nation. Yes, there are a lot of issues in this nation today far more important than whether any Justice was a member of the Klan.

THE PRESIDENT FIGHTS BACK

Those who heard President Roosevelt talk Friday night and those who have read his speech know that he is out for a fight to the finish. He is determined to carry through his proposed court reform measure.

If the President had taken a little time to cultivate the people before proposing this court measure, it is likely that the court bill would have been passed by congress without difficulty.

On his trip across the nation, the President will visit the states which are the home of the most violent critics of court reform. The people of those states will be given the opportunity to hear the President's side of this proposal.

Senator Borah, a ring leader in the opposition of court reform, has been talking about uncontrolled courts. Yet in all of his discussion of the constitution he shows himself to be a shallow partisan. He calls the constitution a sacred document. Yet any one who has a thimble full of sense knows that the constitution is a man-made affair, written 150 years ago to fit the needs of the occasion. Senator Borah and none of the other bigoted opponent of court reform would dare say that they could write a rule and guide for the people of this nation today that would be infallible 150 years hence. Yet this is what they are attempting to ram down the throats of the American people today. So few people in that nation have made any attempt to study the law or the government that the lawyers have resorted to their present campaign to discredit the President in his attempted reform. Their plan is to appeal to the superstition and credulity of the American people, rather than appeal to their sense of right and justice. No wonder the President is mad at this gang.

The President applies the name of "misinterpreters" to the lawyers who have blocked the progress of court reform.

The lawyers have been having the best of the argument in the court reform fight up to the present time. The President now takes a hand. The lawyers are liable to be forced to retreat in dismay.

Many people in Randall county wonder about the seismograph tests which are being made in the county. It seems that the oil companies are making a systematic survey of all the Panhandle with the view of locating future oil fields. People wonder at the method used by the field crew. One of the members explained the methods to The News as follows: The crew is directed by geologists in the home office to start at a certain place. The work of each day is forwarded by air mail each night. Telegraph instructions are received each night for the work of the following day. The crew in the field has absolutely no knowledge of what is going on, or the possibilities of oil, since the seismograph is a highly technical science that is understood by few men, and the findings of each day must be placed with the findings of several other days before they mean anything to the geologists. Therefore when the field crew tells you that they do not know what it is all about, where they will test tomorrow, what they are finding, how long they will be in Randall county—yes, they mean exactly what they say.

Tammany Hall hit the floor with a terrible thud in the New York City election last week. Political observers believe that this overwhelming defeat means the end of the once powerful political organization. While democratic in name, Tammany chooses to rule regardless of party. Tammany made a bad guess when it chose to follow Al Smith, rather than stay with Franklin D. Roosevelt and Jim Farley. Senator Royal S. Copeland made a very poor showing in his race for mayor, basing his campaign upon his dislike for the New Deal, and attempting to dig up the old Ku Klux Klan issue. Indications are that New York City may re-elect its fiery Mayor La Guardia in November. While nominally a Republican, the mayor is a strong

New Dealer, and a great friend of the President. Those birds who thought that the popularity of the President was slipping received a distinct surprise when the people of New York City cast their ballots.

Another distinct mile-stone is reached in Canyon today. The opening of the new hospital is one of the sure and certain signs of stability and progress that Canyon has had in recent years. People of Canyon have been talking about, and hoping for a hospital throughout the years. It is one institution in any community that adds to the attractiveness of a city and invites people to come and make their homes. People hope that they will never be sick and need the facilities of a hospital, yet they feel much more secure if they realize that a good, well equipped hospital is at hand to give them aid in case of necessity. The News wishes well for the new institution, not only from a humanitarian standpoint, but equally as well from a financial standpoint.

ADVENTURE IS COMING IN THE AMERICAN BOY

Readers who like adventure and the lure of far places will find plenty to please them in coming issues of The American Boy Magazine. They'll read, for instance, of seamen and sabotage and San Francisco water-front trouble, and of a feud aboard a plunging, rolling battleship.

They'll read, too, of excitement aboard a transport plane blaring over jungled Mexican mountains, and of stranger planes that are not bound to earth, but swing through the noiselessness of space. Readers can follow a young ex-Mountie as he searches for clues in the wild northlands, and Tierney, the pie-eating detective, on the trail of city criminals.

A new feature in The American Boy is picture pages that tell stories. Pictures, for instance, that vividly show a day in the life of a coast guardsman, and how an Eskimo husky sled dog does his work. They transmit the thrill of battling a hundred pound, water-churning tarpon. Tips on how it's done are also given pictorially—ranging from how to run a broken field to how to be correct in a ballroom!

Note: Subscription prices of The American Boy will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect; one year at $100 or three years at $200. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

Work of Summer Art Colony on Exhibit at Tri-State Fair

An exhibit of pictures selected from those done at the summer art colony directed by the College in the Palo Duro Canyon is hung at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo which opened yesterday.

The pictures include oil and water color landscapes of the canyon, some life drawings, designs, wood carving, and a block print. They are for the most part the work of credit students of the College, many of whom are art teachers in Panhandle schools.

At the conclusion of the fair, the exhibit likely will be removed to El Coronado lodge in the Palo Duro State park, where pottery made by an art colony class also will be seen.

Paintings by Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the College art department, and Miss Marilyn Miller, assistant professor of art, will appear in the loan exhibit at the Tri-State Fair.

WHO OWNS THE BORDEN COMPANY?

No one person or small group owns The Borden Company. Borden stock is owned by the public, 40,000 individual stockholders—many of them your neighbors—men and women living in towns, in cities and on farms located in every state of the United States and all provinces of Canada.

This widespread public ownership of Borden is important to dairy farmers. It is one measure of the people's confidence in the name Borden. On such confidence Borden builds its everlasting advertising and selling efforts to create larger markets for milk and milk products, and a more stable income for dairy farmers.

Lockhart Has Job of Building New Tennis Team

On the shoulders of Coach W. E. Lockhart rests the responsibility, this year of rebuilding an entirely new tennis squad. The loss of Glynndon Riley, George Smalley and Jack Hayes, who last year presented a winning combination to revive a lagging tennis spirit, will be keenly felt.

Coach Lockhart will have as a nucleus, two returning varsity men in stylist Norton Curry, two-year letterman from Plainview, and Brummett McClendon, former Amarillo High School ace. Out of the freshmen ranks will step Lynard Riley, Canadian, and Frank Kelly, Panhandle, who complete the squad.

Coach Lockhart requests that on week days the courts be reserved from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock for the varsity players.

Paleontology Work Is on Exhibit at Tri-State Fair

The College has arranged an exhibit in the W. P. A. booth at the Tri-State Fair. The exhibit represents in part the work accomplished on a district-wide Paleontology Project under the supervision of Mrs. C. S. Johnston.

Many fine specimens are shown representing the prehistoric animal life of West Texas, such as the rhinoceros, camel, elephant, and the great ground sloth. In conjunction with this exhibit of Texas fossils there are numerous photographs illustrating the conditions under which they were found.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the Red Sox. Tigers, and anyone else foolish enough to think they can overhaul the Yankees.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

Austin—All set for the opening next Monday of the great three-day political and legislative circus—the special session of the 45th legislature—the cast, which includes members of the house and senate, and most of the elective state officials, this week finished the innumerable preliminary moves, and awaited the starter's gun.

Chief performers in the three rings will be, respectively, the senate and the governor. The governor has asked the legislature to raise $15,000,000 of new revenue thru taxation—an increase of approximately 60 per cent over the present general fund. He has recommended increasing taxes on oil, gas and sulphur, on pipelines and public utilities, a luxury tax.

As a counter suggestion, the senate investigating committee, headed by the veteran conservative, Tom Holbrook of Galveston, has compiled a list of alternative proposals which include reopening of appropriations, with the hope of reducing them substantially, for the current biennium; abolition or consolidation of several of the newer state bureaus, notably the liquor control board, which costs $1,000,000 a year to maintain; the old age assistance commission and the other social security agencies, including those to administer aid to dependent children, the needy blind and teachers' retirement.

Would Shift Funds

There is also material in this record available for diverting some excess revenue from oil, cigaret and sulphur taxes, now going to the school fund, back to the general fund. The constitution allocates one-fourth of these levies to the schools, but the legislature, by statute, has allocated one-half the oil tax yield, more than half of the sulphur taxes, and a third of the cigaret taxes. Precedent for such a switch of revenues is the message of Gov. Alfred himself, who in his January message to the regular session recommended the transfer. But the school lobby, one of the most numerous and effective in Texas, will doubtless combat any reduction of present school revenue to the last ditch.

The best guess of observers here is:

First, no new tax measures will be adopted, and the session will end in a deadlock, and.

Second, that if revenue bills are enacted, they will be designed to raise from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 additional, instead of the $15,000,000 demanded by the executive.

Back to School

The hope of the preservation of democratic government lies in the education of the masses of the oncoming generation of voters. This week, thruout Texas, millions of youngsters were beginning or resuming their trek up the trail to knowledge. At Texas University, main fortress of the state higher educational system, nearly 11,000 students, by far the largest enrollment in history, took up their labors.

One obscure freshman, from a tiny West Texas hamlet, owes his place on the university's rolls to his gift of salesmanship and the fact that Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul remembered the day more than a score of years ago, when he entered the university. This lad talked Woodul out of a job as a senate messenger, working half a day, and his earnings would see him thru the first semester. Woodul, entering his own son this term, recalled how he borrowed $100 from a railroad conductor friend and came to Austin for an education. He got a job as dishwasher in a boarding house and eventually worked his way to a law degree.

Hundreds of students, working their way, find sympathetic friends in state officials who have traveled the same trail. Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson worked as secretary to a supreme court justice, and now a score of engineering students find jobs every summer with the commissioner, because Thompson remembers his own struggle. Speaker Bob Calvert ran an elevator in the capitol to get his education, and he, too, has aided several youngsters with jobs in the house.

Congressional Races

The declaration of President Roosevelt in his Constitution day radio talk that he proposes to battle on for supreme court reform has centered attention here on next year's Texas congressional races. There is the widest divergence of opinion among the 21 Texas congressmen about this and other New Deal policies. The congressmen, back home trying to mend political fences, are trying to guess how the people stand on the New Deal. Some, like Hatton Summers of Dallas who has been thundering with the voice of the old preacher in Ecclesiastes against dictatorship and court reform, apparently believe the people of his district have quit FDR. Others, like Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Marvin Jones of Amarillo and the brilliant young Lyndon Johnson of Austin, are still vigorously proclaiming their New Deal allegiance. Still others are hedging, hoping for a "break" that will show them how the wind is blowing before next July's elections. State politicians, likewise are much upset by the prospect that the court fight issue is to be kept alive, and they may have to declare themselves.

Notes

Rep. Emmett Morse of Houston hopes to get the issue of sale of whiskey by the drink, killed in the regular session, up again this time, on the theory that it would be a tax measure and within the governor's call. Texas banks seeking to restore the pre-depression good will they enjoyed, are again pointing to their willingness and ability to serve their communities in their advertising. Typical of the trend is this line from Chauncey Parsons, "your singing neighbor" on a recent radio program of the Mercantile

Brown Moves Office To a New Location

Has Practiced In Canyon at Same Place During Past 17 Years

Dr. H. A. Brown has moved his offices from the First National Bank building to the Bradford building, 410 Sixteenth Street. He first opened offices in the bank building 17 years ago. The new location is on the ground floor, making it much more convenient for patients.

Dr. Brown has been highly successful in his practice as a scientific massager. Since opening his offices here he has treated patients from 19 states, bringing people from out-of-town for approximately 70% of his business. His equipment for therapeutic work is not excelled by any doctor in the state. The equipment is the latest and most outstanding.

Dr. Brown specializes in systemic cleansing, through corrective diet, correction of mechanical malalignments, and health-building corrections which tend to normalize structural weaknesses that impeded the normal functions of the body and nervous system.

According to Dr. Brown, not only does this system of treatment correct mechanical defects but points out and instructs on the avoidance of dietary mistakes, and instructs on fundamentals of a natural system of establishing and maintaining health.

Through this system the individual is put in touch and tune with the only true physician—mother nature,—states Dr. Brown. In fact the creed of the practitioner of nature therapies is that sickness is the penalty of violated health laws: that once lost it can be regained, not by aborting, but by working with nature in correcting and building; and that obedience to the laws of nature is the price of her greatest possession—health-wealth.

Dr. Brown also has the exclusive patent rights on the famous individual foot builders that are molded to the feet of the patient, and fit inside the shoe, tending to correct mal-alignments in the foot structure.

Dr. Brown has been active in the community in all civic affairs. He is past commander of the American Legion, past president of the Rotary Club, and is a member of all of the Masonic orders.

Plans for Special Train To El Paso Await Faculty Approval; Baggett Hopes Students Will Follow Buffs.

Plans for a special train of possibly three hundred W. T. students and supporters to El Paso on October 9, when the Buffalo gridsters meet the Texas School of Mines in one of the season's outstanding football games, appeared well underway yesterday when President J. A. Hill tentatively approved the proposed trip pending final approval by the faculty committee.

The trip would be sponsored by The Prairie.

Coach Al Baggett has pledged his wholehearted approval, and will assist in making up the special train in every way possible.

Special rates have been secured for the round trip and for admission to the game. Price of tickets for the round trip have been set tentatively at $7.35 for 200 students, and at $5 if as many as three hundred and fifty students sign for the trip.

Admission to the game will be 55 cents for those making the trip on the special, Coach Mack Saxon of the School of Mines assured Prairie representatives Friday night.

The proposed schedule follows: Leave Canyon at 12:30 a. m. Saturday; arrive at Belen, N. M., at 6:50 a. m. Leave Belen at 7:20 a. m. and arrive at El Paso at 1:30 p. m. Saturday night, and arrive at Vaughn, N. M., at 7:20 a. m., Sunday. Leave Vaughn at 7:50 a. m. and arrive in Canyon at 1:05 Sunday afternoon.

The special will not be limited to students, according to plans, but will be open to all Buffalo supporters.

The W. T. Band will accompany the special if arrangements can be satisfactorily completed.

Success of the proposed special train now hinges on faculty approval and student response. Dr. J. A. Hill has promised to place the proposal before the faculty committee this week, and appeared to consider the plans favorably provided costs of the trip can be reduced to a minimum.

Students who are sure they will be able to make the trip should leave their names at The Prairie office as soon as possible.

Dr. Hill expressed the belief that the proposed special train would receive the approval of the administration provided costs of the trip can be reduced to a favorable minimum.

VOLUME NO. 12

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY CANYON HIGH SCHOOL PRESS CLUB

Hello Everybody,

I'm so mixed up I don't know where to begin as far as football's concerned. First I had to find a way to Dimmitt, then I thought I was gonna git to see a game at home, then my worries begun all over agin. I thought we was gonna go to Lefors. Now I just don't know where I'm goin, but I'll go to Memphis.

Then the faculty has got me all mixed up, with Mr. Pope takin out and that Shirley guy and that Anglen woman coming in. I guess the world's or rather Canyon High School (which means just about the same) 's all jugged up.

Has anybody noticed Clarence Zachry's loyalty to ole C. H. S. by havin purple and white suspenders. We need good ole loyalty like that, but I suppose he used them for the same purpose everbuddy else does anyway.

I shure hopes the band won that prize money offered by the Tri-State Fair. Why I wouldn't trade that band for anybody else.

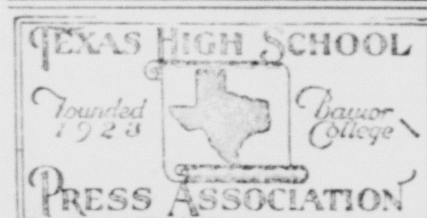

Now Eula Bell, I want cha tu leave em little boys from the country alone. And Do Do, its a good thing that them agricultre boys was gone to the fair cause I know some of em like, Joe Gill and D. A. Butler, would have been plenty mad if they could have seen yu holding hands with that purty Dorothy gal. For once yu was lucky twice.

Then there's sum more of them juniors whose lives have been threatened by sum gals if they don't leave that little Jewell boy and Happy boy alone.

Coach Hutto was so mad cuz everbuddy was afraid tu play em Eagles. He was a goin around seain the world through dark-colored glasses.

Well I'll sign off wondering whither I'll go tu a ball game tomorrow or not.

DO YOU USE THE LIBRARY?

Canyon High School is fortunate in having an extensive library and a well-trained librarian, Miss Helen Anglin.

We have a large supply of reference, fiction, biography, prose, poetry, and drama books. These are also a number of magazines received monthly. They include nature, politics, fiction, poetry, hobbies, travel, science, and reviews of plays and movies for your use and entertainment. The National Geographic magazines, years 1926 to 1936, are bound in volumes and in the library to use as reference books.

We are proud of our library and we want you, the new students and sub-freshmen, to become acquainted with our library and enjoy it as we do. At the same time we hope the old students will make greater use of it than we have ever done.

The "Go To Sunday School Campaign" was boosted in assembly Thursday afternoon when Miss Fronabarger, Principal of the grade school, Rev. Charles L. Wilson of the First Christian Church, Rev. Quattlebaum of the Methodist Church, and Mr. John B. Pope, principal of the high school, spoke to encourage the students of the Canyon Public Schools to attend the Sunday Schools of Canyon.

Students of the high school and the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of the grade school assembled in the high school auditorium Thursday afternoon. In co-operation with the churches of Canyon, I. B. Carruth invited their ministers to speak to the students, in an effort to promote the "Go to Sunday School Campaign." Rev. J. R. Hicks of the First Baptist Church and Rev. E. L. Craig of the Church of Christ were unable to be present and Mr. Carruth extended the invitations from their Sunday schools.

He has attended Texas Technological College, and Columbia University. While in these schools, he took active part in band, orchestra, and glee club work. Here, come back then, let me state something!"

Miss Belva Cain, who taught language in the grades last year, is transferred to seventh grade work in the high school. Miss Cain was head of the English department, and taught Spanish I and II in Claude before she returned to Canyon. When Miss Cain was asked for a statement, she said, "The reporters for the Eagles!"

Miss Anglin was assistant director of dramatics in the college, and was the director of dramatics in the training school. She was supervisor of the substitute teachers in the training school, and sponsored the Quentilian Club. She was an active member of Phi Kappa Delta, and Kappa Delta Phi. She sponsored dramatics and clubs in both Denton High School and the grades. She would like to start a dramatics club here. Her warning to students is "I make my opinion of students the first time I see them!"

Mrs. Ralph Harter, was graduated from West Texas State Teachers College last summer and has been elected to take third grade work in the elementary school. She was a member of the Ala Phacho. She taught one year at Channing, Texas. She is especially interested in the activity program, and glad to teach in her home town.

School Turns Out For Fair Wed.

School turned out yesterday afternoon for the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. The Band and local chapter of Future Farmers of America went in groups to the fair.

A big event of the day was a speech by Governor James V. Allred.

A large number of people voted for the Band so they would have a chance to win $100. The band played over KGNC. It paraded and played at other times during the day, and was admitted free to all events.

The F. F. A. boys have a booth in the Agriculture Building. Products were grown at the homes of different boys.

The Eagles will open their season at 8 o'clock tomorrow night when they play the Memphis Cyclones at Memphis, Texas.

Memphis has attended a training camp and has played a few games this season. They have nine lettermen, and they defeated the Mo-beetle Hornets in a 14 to 0 victory. They have one of the best ball clubs in the history of the school. It is coached by Carl Hubbell. Coach Hutto, of the Eagles, said, "We are taking a green ball club to Memphis, but hope to bring back a victory for our town and school."

The probable starting line up will be:

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

The following material was released from the State Department of Public Safety from the data collected in August.

Texas highway accidents brought death in August to 187 people—an increase of 33 over July—to mark the highest monthly toll since last December when 225 were killed, according to statistics compiled by the Department of Public Safety.

These 187 deaths, the compilation stated, were the outgrowth of 1,079 crashes, 562 of which involved two or more motor vehicles. Forty of the 187 persons killed were pedestrians, the remainder passengers and drivers.

Traffic experts of the Safety Department did not offer any particular reason for the increased traffic rate, but pointed out that 72,000 more vehicles were registered in Texas this year than in 1936.

Automobiles driven at fast speeds figured in most of the fatal crashes, because, the experts commented, drivers of speeding cars were usually unable to cope with emergencies they may encounter.

Although more people were killed in the past month, there was a decided decrease in the number injured. In July 1,251 suffered injuries in all types of collisions, while the August report listed 946 injured persons.

Night hours—when drivers are blinded by approaching lights or become drowsy—still remain the period when most of the fatal accidents occur. Eighteen were killed in August during the two hours preceding midnight, and 17 fatalities were recorded from midnight until six a. m.

even boil water. But this bride is blessed with resourceful determination, even though the faithful servant in her girlhood home made every effort to spoil her.

What happens after the honeymoon is over? What happens when the bride becomes aware of the critical gaze of some of her husband's old sweethearts, who are not apt to forget heavy biscuits in a hurry?

To unravel the mystery in advance would be to rob this clever tale of its novel approach. However the audience is due to share a series of neighborly food consultations, in which expert home specialists reveal the secrets which govern the perfection of flaky pie-crust, fluffy cakes, molded icebox marvels, appetizing salads and correctly roasted meats.

Never has the wizardry of the camera brought a subject more closely and naturally to the watchers.

It will be a real cooking class, just as though the model kitchen were right on the stage, with the exception that the view actually will be more complete for each person in the audience. The guests of The News in the back rows will share the same close-ups of the busy mixing bowl which are being seen in the front of the theater.

When the graduated measuring spoons drop their level portions into the bowl, when the wooden spoon is creaming the shortening, and the dry ingredients are being sifted, each step of that measuring, blending and mixing process will be pictured faithfully through a series of fascinating close-ups.

This will be no direct-from-the-oven sample of speed or trick photography, but a thorough, real-life camera study of scientific methods, designed to be helpful, even while the story entertains.

So realistic is the atmosphere of the modern kitchens, with their gleaming, convenient equipment and cheery informality, that the audience really feels part of the scene. Soon the deft worker seems to be talking directly to each person in the theater, rather than to the puzzled bride.

Every listener will find a harvest of practical ideas among the suggestions for more efficient homemaking, covering such daily problems as laundry, refrigeration, up-to-date entertaining, beauty secrets, news of modernized home equipment and tips on making these mechanical servants yield the highest degree of usefulness.

Not only will the picture be free, but there will be a host of daily gifts and surprises arranged by The Canyon News and participating firms, who are joining forces to make the unusual entertainment available to the community.

Reserve the dates, October 13, 14, and 15, on your calendar now and plan to join your neighbors at this free educational show.

needs of the various regions and states is included in the plan.

Salient points in the new program are:

Establishment of national goal for soil-depleting crops and a national objective for soil-building crops and practices. The national goal will be sub-divided into state, county and individual farm goals.

A maximum payment will be calculated for each farm. Payment will be made for keeping within soil-depleting crop goals and for attaining soil building goals, including the carrying out of practices. If the soil-depleting crop goal is exceeded, or there is failure to reach the soil-building goal, the payment will be less than the maximum payment.

In general, the 1938 crop classifications will follow those for the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs.

In all regions payments will be divided between landlord and tenant in the proportion that they share in the principal crop, or all crops and practices on the farm.

Specific provisions applicable to the Great Plains area encourage the restoration to grass of land which should not have been plowed.

The AAA regional organization for the administration of the program and provisions for local administration by county and state committees will correspond to those for 1937.

As was the case when the 1937 national program was announced, the actual appropriation for next year's program has not been made. The 1938 program, therefore, is dependent upon the action of Congress, although in 1935 Congress authorized an annual appropriation for carrying out a program under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

"As Secretary Wallace has indicated," H. R. Tolley, Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, said, "the purpose of establishing goals is to provide more definite objectives for 1938. Also, the goals should increase the program's efficiency by more directly encouraging better balanced farming. Assignment of individual goals should give each farmer a better concept of his part in the national conservation effort."

"Farmers will increase their soil-conserving acreage and soil-building practices as they have in the past and decrease their acreage in soil-depleting crops. In actual operation, the 1938 program should prove simpler and more effective than the two programs which preceded it. For example, a farmer, when goals for his farm have been established, will know just what he is supposed to do to comply with the plan and just how much he will receive for that compliance. Only one type of payment will be made and full payment will be made only if the soil-depleting acreage does not exceed the goal and if there is a sufficient acreage in soil-conserving crops and the required soil-building practices to meet the soil-building goal. Payments will be decreased in cases of failure to reach the goals."

Rates of payment for all commodities were determined in a uniform manner. In arriving at the rates the following factors were taken into account: the number of acres in each goal; the farm value of the crops in each goal; the shift in acreage from the 10-year average necessary to reach each goal; and the farm value which these shifts represent based on 10-year average values.

This means that one-half the payment is based upon the conservation attained by reaching the goals and one-half of the sacrifice involved.

The soil-building goal includes the normal acreage in soil-conserving crops and the increases resulting from the shifts in soil-depleting crops, in addition to practices such as liming, terracing, the restoration of land to native grasses and the seeding of legumes and perennial grasses.

County goals will be based on averages grown in the counties, adjusted when necessary to trends in acreage, the recommendations of district and county agricultural planning committees with respect to the relationship between acreages of certain crops which are needed to promote soil conservation.

In each county, the county agricultural conservation committee will establish for each farm a total soil-depleting crop goal and any goal for an individual soil-depleting crop applicable to the farm. In establishing such individual goals, the county committee will consider the tillable acreage on a farm, the type of soil, topography, production facilities, the crop rotation system, acreage customarily grown on the farm, and acreages of food and feed crops needed for home consumption.

County committees will establish soil-building goals for individual farms, taking into consideration the minimum requirements specified under the program, the acreage of new seedings required in 1938 to promote soil conservation, the application of limestone and fertilizer required for soil-conserving crops and the improvement of pastures and the acreages on which terracing, contour listing, and other mechanical practices are needed to prevent wind and water erosion. These goals can be met by maintaining soil-conserving crops and by the use of other soil-building practices adapted to the needs of each state or county.

Under the previous program separate rates were established for diversion from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops and for the carrying out of each soil-building practice. Under this plan a producer calculated his payment at the end of the crop year by applying these separate rates to each acre diverted and to each practice performed. In 1938, however, the maximum payment for each producer will be calculated at the beginning of the crop year and the attainment of the soil-depleting crop goal and the soil-building goal will be set as conditions of full payment. Each producer will know what he must do for complete co-operation. This change should result in a greater degree of compliance and in consequence make the program more effective from the standpoint of soil conservation and economic use of the land.

Payments will be made for staying within a farm's soil depleting crop goal and for achieving the soil-building goal.

The sum of any of those payments which apply to a farm shall be the farm's total payment for 1938, if both the soil-depleting crop goal and the soil-building crop goals are fully met. Only partial payments will be made if the soil-depleting crop goals are exceeded or if the soil-building goal is only partially achieved. Deductions will be made in the Great Plains area if cultivated land is not handled so as to prevent wind and water erosion in 1938.

The specific crops and practices to be counted toward the attainment of a farm's soil-building goal correspond in general to those approved for use in the 1937 program. State committees will later select the list of soil-conserving crops and practices that will apply to their particular states.

The range program, developed during 1936 and 1937, will be continued in 1938.

Smythe Talks About Museum Tuesday at Rotary Luncheon

Colonel R. P. Smythe, president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, spoke Tuesday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club regarding the work of the Museum. Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Society, made a statement regarding the work of Col. Smythe.

Joe Hill was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker. Col. Smythe is making a series of talks to service clubs over the Plains regarding the Museum.

Col. Smythe paid high tribute to Dr. Hill and the work that he was accomplishing in W. T. The attendance at the Museum has now reached more than 137,000, representing every state in the union and several foreign countries. The membership now number 490; 63 from Canyon. Members are from 56 towns in Texas, from several outside states, and two foreign countries. Col. Smythe called attention to the money raised for the Museum, about $40,000 from the people of this section; $25,000 from the state, and $25,000 from the centennial fund.

The work of Floyd Studor and Dr. C. S. Johnston was praised. This territory is the richest field in the world in paleontology and archaeology. The big universities have sent many expeditions into this territory, taking away valuable materials.

Col. Smythe appealed to the people of Canyon to take a greater interest in the museum as it means so much to this section, and to the upbuilding of the city.

Dr. Hill stated that there was no other place on earth that the pioneers had taken an interest in the preservation of their own history as was being done in the Panhandle. He praised the pioneers who had worked so hard for the Museum. He visualized one of the greatest museums in the nation at a not too distant date when money is available for the completion of the building and for more display cases.

Dr. Harry Brown, past president of the club, presented an attendance plaque for last year, which had been sent to the club by Fred Wemple, past district governor.

New teachers of the high school were guests as follows: Miss Virginia King, Miss Helen Anglin, Miss Nelle Freeman, Mrs. Ralph Harter, Lewis Shirley, Marshall Riemen-schneider. Other guests were A. A. Meredith, J. J. Sanders, John McCarty, W. I. Clifton, all of Amarillo; Bedford Masonchamper of Denver; Mrs. Irby Carruth of Canyon.

APPRECIATION

A commercial traveler put up for the night at a small country inn. In the breakfast room the following morning he was asked by the landlord how he had enjoyed the cornet playing in the next bedroom during the night.

"Enjoyed it!" was the reply. "I should think not, indeed! Why, I spent half the night pounding on the wall to make that cornet lunatic stop."

"I'm afraid there's been a misunderstanding," said the landlord, stiffly. "The cornet player told me that the person in the next room applauded him so heartily that he played every piece he knew five times over."

Travel by airplane is increasing and will continue to grow whether you care to take the air or not.

The prize usually is presented by Charlie Chaplin. Each entrant must carry at least 12 baskets on his head.

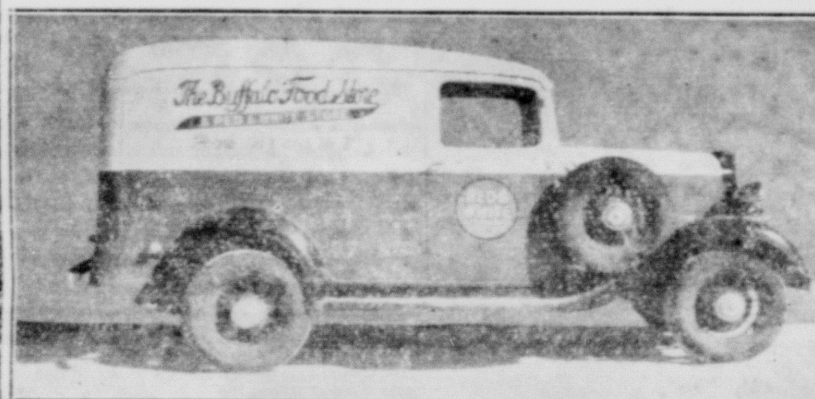

TIT FOR TAT

A printer got slightly peeved at a letterhead from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letterheads, different sizes, different grades, and different colors, and wanted the printing form held standing. So the printer took his typewriter in hand and wrote.

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two of five-inch incision—with or without ether—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting back same and canceling order. If removed, successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days, as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gallstone at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

the convenience and pleasure of the patients.

Each room is equipped with Sim-throughout the hospital.

Efficiency Sought

The average layman who has been fortunate enough to escape the necessity of spending a few days or a few weeks confined to a hospital will not realize the pains which have been taken to equip this institution for the comfort and convenience of the patients and members of their families. Those who are patients in the hospital will be highly impressed with the completeness of the equipment, and the efficiency of the arrangement and the management of the institution as a whole.

First of all is the air-conditioning of the building. No new commercial enterprise would consider erecting a building without this very necessary and modern convenience. For a hospital this feature is indispensable. The fresh filtered air comes to the patient purified, cooled, and not only free from dust but likewise free of all pollen which causes hay fever patients much misery and inconvenience.

FAITH IN CANYON

Dr. R. A. Neblett Is Joined By Dr. R. P. Jarrett
In Practice

The realization of a dream of many years comes true in Canyon with the opening of the Neblett Hospital.

Citizens of Randall county have been considering the necessity of a hospital for the past fifteen years.
Several attempts have been made to get the project started. At one time a county election was held to vote bonds for a hospital, but the bond issue was defeated.

Local physicians have long felt the need of such an institution owing to the large number of patients who were taken away to other hospitals.

President J. A. Hill has considered a hospital in connection with W. T. and such an institution has been recommended as a necessity by the Board of Control.

Studied Need of Hospital

Dr. R. A. Neblett began a serious study of the needs of a hospital and the possibilities of establishing one when he came to Canyon five years ago. After mature reflection and a complete survey of the possibilities of such an institution he reached the decision last spring that a privately owned institution was of as much value to the community as a publicly owned hospital would be. The privately owned institutions over the Southwest, as a rule, have been more successful in their operations, and have been able to render as great or greater service than those owned by the county or the city in which they were located.

Armed with a great array of facts gathered from the experiences of others, Dr. Neblett started plans for the erection of the new hospital in Canyon.

Co-operation Given

Assistance has been extended to him in this enterprise by the Chamber of Commerce, the City Commission and the Commissioners' Court.

A working agreement was reached between Dr. Neblett and the Board of Regents of Teachers Colleges whereby the students of W. T. will have the facilities of the new institution. A contract was agreed upon in March, and starting with the opening of college this fall, students will receive the same careful hospital services that may be expected in any of the state colleges of Texas.

Well Trained

Dr. Neblett is a graduate of the Medical School of the University of Texas located at Galveston. He served as intern in New Orleans Charity Hospital for one year, and the following year he had a fellowship in Pediatrics in that institution. He is now an associate member of the Texas Pediatrics Society.

Will Pave Streets Around Hospital As WPA Project

A paving project has been presented to WPA and is now in Washington awaiting approval to pave Sixth Avenue and Sixteenth Street around the Neblett Hospital.

When the hospital was announced April 1st by Dr. R. A. Neblett, the Chamber of Commerce presented a petition to the City Commission asking that this paving be done.

A gap of six blocks on Sixth Avenue was left when the brick paving was put down several years ago.
Only half of the street in front of the hospital is paved with brick.

Caliche has been spread on the streets where the paving gaps occur.
The topping will be placed as soon as the WPA project is approved.
The project has been cleared in both the district and state offices of WPA and word should be received from Washington soon of its approval.

This street paving is included in a project of 64 blocks which is proposed for work in Canyon during the coming year.

New Hospital Is Completed

Pictured above is the new Neblett Hospital, the latest public facility that has been constructed in Canyon to add to the attractiveness of this community. Dr. R. A. Neblett proves his faith in the future of Canyon by making the large investment necessary to build and equip this hospital.

The same care in equipment has been taken in the new Neblett Hospital as was shown in the construc-models and the finest equipment has been bought and placed in the hospital. Those who make a careful inspection of the hospital will be impressed with this equipment.

to give a maximum of efficiency.

W. T. Students Offered Facili- ties of Hospital

Contract Is Made To Take Care of Hospital
Work of the Students of W. T.

REGENTS APPROVE

All Students Are Given Examinations Under
New Arrangements

Under the terms of the contract between the Neblett Hospital and the West Texas State Teachers College, the health of the students is well guarded by means of medical examinations and hospitalization when deemed necessary. The plan adopted is one observed in most of the leading colleges and universities of the nation.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T., has requested the legislature several times to provide a hospital for the college, owing to the need of such an institution. When this request was not granted, Dr. Hill asked the Board of Regents to enter into an agreement with Dr. R. A. Neblett to provide hospitalization for the students when the new hospital was completed. The regents granted the request. The contract between the regents and the hospital was made effective with the opening of the College term this month.

Each student is given a medical examination when he enters college. If defects are found, the student is given advice as to how these physical defects should be treated. If it is found necessary, a special program of remedial physical education is recommended. Students are required to show that they have been vaccinated against small-pox.

Treatment For All

Medical treatment is given all athletes both during the training period and during the playing season.

Each student in the college will be allowed seven days of hospitalization during each semester. Experience shows that very few college students need more hospital care than this. The health fee paid by the student does not cover the cost of major surgery if this is found necessary.

A staff of registered nurses will be on duty at the hospital in order to care not only for the students but for all other patients in the hospital.

Laundry For New Hospital Located In the Basement

A completely equipped laundry for the new Neblett Hospital is located in the basement of the building.

The laundry is sufficiently large to care for all of the needs of the hospital even when the institution is filled to capacity.

Col. Chas. Goodnight Tells His Story Of First Entering Palo Duro Canyon

Pioneer Drove His Herd Over Site on Which City Stands

(Note: Mrs. Olive K. Dixon was a close friend of Colonel Chas. Goodnight for many years. In the following article she tells of early experiences of Colonel Goodnight. This article is highly interesting to Canyon people since the first herd that Col. Goodnight drove from Colorado probably crossed the Plains to the site where Canyon now stands. It is definitely proven that the Goodnights entered the Palo Duro Canyon near the present site of El Coronado Lodge.)

By Olive K. Dixon

For a number of years there have been appearing in first class magazines and newspaper over a wide territory, interesting stories dealing with early happenings in the Texas Panhandle, written by eminent authors. It has been my privilege to have given some of these writers personal interviews and, in other cases answered by mail a long list of questions, thereby giving in many instances the information needed in the writing of these articles. Recently I have had many friends suggest that I prepare for publication some of the historical sketches I have been gathering over a period of 30 years, giving some of my own experiences since I came to this country 45 years ago.

Friends of Long Standing

Beginning my personal interviews with Col. Charles Goodnight, it might be well to state that he and my husband, Billy Dixon, were friends of long standing. During several years when Goodnight first established his ranch in the Palo Duro Canyon and while the marauding Plains Indians were giving the settlers more or less trouble, it so happened that Billy Dixon, being a scout and guide with the United States troops under command of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, came in contact with Colonel Goodnight on several occasions. One instance which I recall hearing my husband tell about when in a reminiscent mood was in the Fall of 1877, when many of the Comanche and Kiowa Indians had become dissatisfied with their life on the military reservation at Fort Sill and fled to their old home on the Staked Plains. They soon were killing the Goodnight cattle.

Goodnight made a private treaty with the Indians and agreed to give them a certain number of beaves a day as long as they remained, if they would not raid his herds. His proposal was accepted, and the compact was kept until the soldiers arrived and compelled the Indians to return to their reservations. Among this party of Indians was Quanah Parker, a noted Comanche chief. His mother was Cynthia Ann Parker, a white woman.

Another Breakfast

Billy Dixon was with the troops who were sent out to bring the Indians in and it was during this time that the two white men, both so well known afterwards, formed a friendship that lasted down through the years.

It was with this knowledge of their friendship that I wrote Colonel Goodnight, asking his permission to come to his home for a few days and listen to him tell of his early experiences on the frontier of Texas. I was very graciously given this permission and when the Fort Worth and Denver train on which I was a passenger pulled into the little town of Goodnight, Aug. 18, 1922, this grand old man was standing on the station platform and with true Western hospitality bid me welcome to his home which stood at the edge of the town that bears his name. It was 8 o'clock and I had already had my breakfast, but when my host announced that breakfast was waiting my arrival, without making any excuses, I followed him into the large old-fashioned dining room where a most delicious meal, consisting of ham and eggs, hot biscuits, pear preserves and coffee, was served. This was during the lifetime of Mrs. Mary Ann Dyer Goodnight, and while this dear little woman was in poor health at the time and very frail, not being able to have a part in the management of the large house, she had the same solicitude for which she was famous as a hostess in years gone by, and inquired of me often if I was comfortable and receiving the attention she felt a guest should have in her home.

Portage Into Canyon

Colonel Goodnight was in perfect health at this time and his memory was remarkable for its clearness, which enabled him to recall the past with ease and accuracy. While seated on the wide veranda which circled three sides of the ranch home, he told me many interesting stories, one of which appears below:

"My first entrance into Palo Duro Canyon to establish a permanent home was in November, 1876. We entered the canyon by way of the old Comanche Indian Trail between the junction of the Canyon Ceta Blanca and the main Palo Duro Canyon. It took my outfit about half a day to work the cattle down this narrow, rugged trail. The wagons were then taken to pieces and carried down piece by piece on the backs of the mules. We had about six months' rations and much corn. This also was carried down on the mules. The canyon being narrow at this place prevented the buffalo from being in it at this particular place. Hence water and grass were found in abundance and the cattle grazed at their own free will. The portage lasted two days.

"We then started the herds down the canyon. As the canyon widened the buffalo increased until by the time we arrived at the upper end of the valley (which has since been known as the 'Old Home Ranch') we could estimate the number of buffalo ahead of us at 10,000. I and my brother-in-law, Lee R. Dyer, were the buffalo drivers.

Great Clouds of Ducks

"This was a virgin country, and the sight that met our eyes was one of grandeur never to be forgotten. I had never seen anything like it before and certainly never hope to see it equal again. Great clouds of wild ducks arising from the water holes made an immense noise. The tremendous echo of the canyon and the uprooting and crashing of scrub cedars as the herd moved over the ground made one of the grandest and most interesting sights I have ever seen. If the buffalo did not come off the mountain sides near us, we simply sent a sharpshooter ball among them. A nearby shot would have caused an instant stampede, making kindling wood as the excited animals came down.

"This herd of buffalo was moved down the canyon some 15 miles, giving ourselves room and grass and water for 1,600 cattle. I then put on a herd line from the mouth of Turkey Creek and held them back, turning every day from 800 to 1,500 buffalo. This line was kept up about a year until the buffalo were reduced by buffalo hunters, and then the line was not necessary.

"At this time there was no other entrance into the Palo Duro Canyon, except a few Indian trails, for 60 miles or until opposite the mouth of the Tule (the word is Spanish, and means cattail, reed or flag) Canyon, where General MacKenzie entered with the United States troops during the Indian campaign of 1874.

"Much has been written, and much of it erroneously, about the killing of the Indian horses by the soldiers under command of General MacKenzie at this time. The Indians were supposed to have had 1,200 horses, most of which had been stolen from the white settlers. These were the Kiowas, Cheyennes and Comanches and were on the war path at this time.

Indian Afoot Was Whipped

"The story goes, General MacKenzie's men would capture large numbers of horses in the day time and the Indians would steal them back at night. Not being able to hold the horses, and determined to put the savages afoot (to put an Indian afoot meant to get him whipped), MacKenzie captured what he could of the horses and ordered them shot. Afterwards I knew many of the soldiers who were with MacKenzie at the time, and they generally estimated the number of horses shot at about 1,300. I have been over the ground many times,

Home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Burrow

and, judging from the amount of bones on the ground, I should consider the number not more than this. These bones were gathered up by the settlers later and sold for fertilizer.

"In 1877 it was necessary for more supplies to be brought from Colorado, and to prepare on a larger scale to start the Adair and Goodnight herd of cattle. We left Pueblo, Colo., on this trip with four heavily loaded wagons and 100 of the best blooded Durham bulls I could buy. This bull herd caused much merriment among my cowboys, as to my object in adding so many of these animals, knowing I had plenty already with the herd. My object, of course, was to introduce new and better blood.

"With this outfit we left all traces of civilization at what was known as the Cimarron Plaza, on the Cimarron River, on the east side of the Raton Mountains in New Mexico. Striking southeast there, until we came to the Canadian River about 40 miles above the present town of Tascosa. From there we crossed over to the upper Palo Duro Canyon, coming more south and east, leaving the canyon to the south of our course until we got opposite the 'Old Home Ranch.' The herd of Durham bulls were turned loose in the canyon and all hands were put to work road building as far as we could, always keeping the entire outfit within rifle range in case of an Indian attack or other trouble. During this work we reached an elevated tableland which overlooked the entire canyon. The large park below us held thousands of buffalo peacefully grazing at sundown.

Lightning and Thundering Herd

"The night that followed, I shall never forget. The volume of sound made by a large herd of buffalo is very great, and this being mating season, the sound was great, indeed, with numerous stampedes making it appear that the animals were very close. Mrs. Goodnight, not being accustomed to such scenes, became greatly alarmed, telling me they would run over the covered wagon in which we were sleeping. I utterly failed in convincing her that the buffalo were miles away. To make matters worse it began to rain, and the downpour was terrific and the lightning a blaze of light, with constant flashes on the wagon sheet. It was enough to frighten the bravest woman and I am sure few women would have been as calm as my wife during a time like that. To pacify her, I got up and made a big bonfire with cedars, thus assuring her that all wild animals could be turned easier by light than by a regiment of cavalry. The road as it was built from the bottom to the top with its curves was about four miles and certainly would not have been practicable for automobiles. And thus it remained until civilization reached the Panhandle country."

When the colonel became tired of talking and reached for his hat with the promise that some other time he might tell me another story; I knew for the present I must find some one else to visit with.

Drove Supply Wagon

Mrs. Goodnight always sitting near and apparently deeply interested in all that her distinguished husband was telling, immediately took up the task of story telling in which she told me some of her own personal experiences before and after she came to the Texas Panhandle. She told me that it was during the Civil War that through her older brothers she became acquainted with Colonel Goodnight. For 10 years they knew and loved each other, before they were permitted to marry and make a home for themselves, on account of obligations to others. They were married July 26, 1870. For their first seven years of their married life they lived at Pueblo, Colo. Mrs. Goodnight told me how she drove a team and load of supplies down through the Palo Duro Canyon to the log cabin that was her first home in all that vast wilderness.

Judging from her photograph, which the colonel gave me, Mrs. Goodnight must have been a very beautiful woman in her younger days. She was not blessed with a child of her own, but at the death of her mother in 1864, she took her place in the home and cared and helped rear her three younger brothers. She was a native of Tennessee.

During the three days I was a guest in the Goodnight home, many courtesies were shown me. Among them a trip to see the famous buffalo herd which at that time numbered about 250 head, confined in a two-section pasture surrounded by a six-wire fence. Another courtesy was an automobile trip to Clarendon, so that I might see the surrounding country and this lovely little frontier town.

W. T. President Advises Students Stay In West Texas

Colleges Of West Texas Offer Fine Opportunity To All

By J. A. HILL

There are 25 institutions of higher learning in the jurisdiction of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Of these, four are denominational junior colleges, as follows: Decatur Baptist at Decatur, Randolph Junior at Cisco, Wayland Baptist at Plainview, and Weatherford College at Weatherford. There are eight denominational senior colleges—Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, McMurry at Abilene, Abilene Christian at Abilene, Howard Payne at Brownwood, Daniel Baker at Brownwood, Texas Christian University at Ft. Worth, Texas Wesleyan at Ft. Worth, and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth. Also, there are five municipal junior colleges—at Amarillo, at Clarendon, at Ranger, at San Angelo, and at Wichita Falls. There are two state junior colleges—John Tarleton at Stephenville and North Texas Agricultural and Mechanical at Arlington. Finally, there are six state senior institutions in the same territory—Sul Ross State Teachers College at Alpine, West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, Texas State College for Women at Denton, College of Mines at El Paso, and Texas Technological College at Lubbock. To list them another way, there are 12 denominational colleges, five municipal colleges, and eight state colleges. These institutions are well distributed over an area that roughly encompasses nearly 150,000 square miles and is larger than all of New England plus New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

Education at Home

From the above facts it will be seen that West Texas institutions offer West Texas youth a great variety of educational opportunity. Excepting specialized courses in law and medicine, every type of higher educational curriculum is available. If general culture, religious and pre-vocational work are desired, our denominational colleges, junior and senior, have established reputations

Educator Writes

DR. J. A. HILL

Dr. J. A. Hill has been connected with the West Texas State Teachers College since the institution started in 1910. He came to the institution as head of the History department. It was started as a normal college.

When Dr. R. B. Cousins, first president, resigned in 1918, Dr. Hill was selected to take the place as head of the institution. He has continued as head of the college since that time.

During the administration of Dr. Hill, the institution has greatly improved and expanded. The physical plant is several times the size it was in 1918, the student body and faculty has greatly increased in numbers, and the functions of the institution greatly expanded.

In these fields and are giving excellent service to the public. If pre-vocational work of high quality is desired or a foundation for general culture, the state schools at Arlington and Stephenville offer superior advantages. The same may be said of the various municipal junior colleges. If a large senior college with a comprehensive curriculum with specialization in the agricultural and mechanical arts is desired, the Texas Technological College is an outstanding institution. If our young women seek superior advantages in the fields usually covered in the program of a college for women, they cannot do better than attend Texas State College for Women at Denton. The teachers colleges at Alpine, Canyon, and Denton rank high among the teachers colleges of the nation and offer distinctly superior advantages to those who aspire to teach. The School of Mines at El Paso is a branch of the University of Texas and is rapidly developing in its chosen field.

Making Contributions

These institutions, while making contributions to the intellectual and cultural life of West Texas, have at the same time taken color from their environment and present unique characteristics and features in their respective fields. In a way, they embody the originality, the energy, the straightforwardness, and the democratic spirit of the people among whom they are planted. This means that each has in some way adapted itself to its environment and therefore has developed a personality of its own. Each has its distinctive atmosphere, which is instantly felt when one steps upon the campus. This means that these institutions are not just some more colleges but that they are part and parcel of the civilization about them. Perhaps this can be said of most colleges, wherever located, but since West Texas itself is different in quality from other parts of the United States, its institutions of higher learning have likewise become unlike similar institutions in other places. As a single illustration of what is meant here (and I use this illustration because it is close at hand), your attention is called to the fact that the first settlers of Northwest Texas saw the historical and scientific value of their own artifacts and have erected on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College a beautiful and commodious museum building and gathered there a marvelous collection of the evidences of a rapidly passing era. This is the first museum built on a college campus in Texas, the people who built it are perhaps the first pioneers in the history of the world who recognized the value of their own artifacts.

Democracy in Practice

I have referred above to the distinctive atmosphere that pervades West Texas campuses and to the democratic spirit that is prevalent. To my way of thinking this constitutes one of the greatest assets of the West Texas colleges. We do not have the social stratification here that is found elsewhere among colleges, and snobbery is scarcely known. The boy who works on the college farm to defray his expenses through school is as likely to be elected president of the Student Council as is any other boy on the campus. The girl who sweeps the floors or waits tables at the dormitory enjoys all the respect that any other girl receives and is the recipient of as many attentions and honors as any girl on the campus. Here young men and young women are respected for what they are rather than for what they have. I submit that this is in most thorough keeping with the ideals and traditions of American democracy and makes these institutions genuine bulwarks of those principles and social theories that mean most to the American people.

PARTIAL VIEW OF WEST TEXAS STATE CAMPUS

In this connection it appears to me that some of our own West Texas people are making bad mistakes in sending their children to far distant schools where campus ideals and practices run counter to our own and in reality counter to the best traditions of our country. Is it not possible that some of our people really misunderstand the meaning of education? There are colleges of rather extensive reputation in the United States where the students are mis-educated, and it behooves all West Texans, who really have a rich social and political heritage, to think seriously before sending their sons and daughters to far distant institutions whose ideals are so out of keeping with our own. It is just as easy to buy a "gold brick" in the field of education as in the world of speculation.

Because our West Texas institutions of higher learning are relatively young, it is sometimes supposed that their physical facilities and faculties are inferior. As a matter of fact, taken as a whole, our own colleges in West Texas rank well with such institutions over the nation. If this is doubted, just take a jaunt around over the country and do a little inspecting. A lot of West Texans could profitably make a tour of their own institutions of higher learning. Many of them would be greatly surprised at what they would find. At many of our educational centers there are physical plants and faculties that are rapidly taking rank with the best in the country. This growth of West Texas colleges is indeed comparable to the growth of West Texas in other respects, and today they face the brightest prospect in their history. They are destined to occupy a yet larger place in the educational affairs of the state and nation and the youth who shall make the most of his educational opportunity in West Texas will enjoy an advantage and an equipment that should take him far along the road to achievement.

CANYON DURING THE EARLY DAYS

Top: Photograph taken February 11, 1902, when business centered on Fifth Avenue, now the location of Thompson Hardware Company's warehouse. The view taken is at the corner of the block looking west.

Center: December, 1904, shows the east side of the square looking south. The brick at the southeast corner was the bank, the only brick building in Canyon at that time.

Bottom: View of Canyon in 1907. The view was taken from the tower of the windmill shown in the top picture. The old court house stood on the court house lawn. Only a few brick buildings were on the square at that time. The two story frame building at the right was the Victoria Hotel which stood on the site now occupied by the new postoffice.

Accotile Covers All Floors Throughout New Hospital

The floors throughout the Neblett Hospital are covered with Accotile, a product that has been placed on the market for buildings which need the best kind of flooring. No building in this section has such a distinctive flooring as the new hospital.

The advantages of this new flooring are: asphaltic in construction; offer maximum sanitary conditions; are fire resisting; permanent in nature; resilient; quiet; comfortable to walk on; colorful; distinctive.

This type of floor, together with the acoustical tile ceiling which has been put on the ceiling of all corridors in the hospital will hold noise and confusion to a minimum.

These features, coupled with the fact that the new furniture is the latest make and best in hospital equipment will add much to the comfort of the patients.

Santa Fe Folder Tells Story of Park, Canyon and Randall

The Santa Fe Railway has issued a new folder on the agricultural and industrial resources, history and development of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas. The folder is illustrated with prosperous farm and city scenes, and will be widely distributed among prospective settlers and investors, states M. C. Burton, general freight and passenger agent.

"The Panhandle and South Plains area," says the booklet in way of introduction, "is a new empire of over 40,000 square miles. Fully 70 per cent of the land is adapted to cultivation. Fifty years ago cattlemen began to find their way into the Panhandle and South Plains—not until about 1900 did settlers begin to try to make a living from the soil."

"The coming of the railroads—opened the door for development. What has happened since 1900 borders on the miraculous. Land that stockmen had considered valuable for grazing and nothing more, has proven wonderfully productive under the plow—agriculture has become an important industry and has built the little cow towns into modern cities.

"The Santa Fe built its Southern Kansas Line into Panhandle City in 1887—and points with pride to the development that has taken place along its lines. It planned and built a net-work of lines over—Northwest Texas and connected the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Coast.—The Panhandle and South Plains have been placed by the Santa Fe in a peculiar advantageous position as to markets."

Canyon was given prominent mention in the new folder. The following was said of the Palo Duro Canyon:

Palo Duro Canyon

The Palo Duro Canyon is an unexpected phenomenon in the broad expanse of the high plains. Beginning in New Mexico it is at first merely a shallow winding stream course, but it gradually deepens into a gorge with steep and rocky sides more than a thousand feet deep. The floor of the canyon varies from a quarter of a mile to nearly a mile in width. In places it is rough and rocky and in other places there is a rich and varied vegetation, including magnificent forest trees and heavy undergrowth. The canyon has become a resort for outings and country clubs have found picturesque locations there.

The following description is given of Randall County:

Randall County

Population in 1930, 7,071; in 1920, 3,675; in 1910, 3,313; crop land in 1929, 249,323 acres; in 1919, 116,815 acres; in 1909, 94,404 acres; production in 1929, wheat 2,907,834 bushels, barley 112, 513 bushels, oats 230,679 bushels, grain sorghums 665,843 bushels, Indian corn 39,895 bushels, alfalfa 1,483 tons, chickens 70,678, and eggs 448,983 dozen; all cattle in 1929, 31,588 head, milk cows 4,408 head, and on April 1, 1930 hogs 6,489 head, and sheep and lambs 13,200. Canyon is the county seat.

The following paragraph is given regarding Canyon:

Canyon

Canyon, the county seat of Randall County on the main line of the Santa Fe Railway and the Plain-view branch, is located in a rich farming district. The population in 1930 was 2,821 and in 1920, 1,618. Canyon has water and sewer systems, electric light and power, telephone service, paved streets, strong banks, many churches and good public schools. It is the home of the West Texas State College, which has become one of the important educational institutions in the southwest. Canyon has three grain elevators and other industries. The altitude is 3,626 feet.

In Appreciation

In the progress of every community there comes a time when some note-worthy achievement is performed.

In the construction of the

Neblett Hospital

such an event has occurred for the benefit of our entire citizenship.

This new institution would be a credit to a city many times larger than Canyon, not only for the untold service to those who are in need of this special ministrations, but also for its architectural beauty.

We extend our sincere congratulations and appreciation to Dr R. A. Neblett and his associate, Dr. R. P. Jarrett together with their staff, for the modern facilities they have provided to render service and comfort to the citizens of Canyon and Randall County.

REGISTERED NURSES

Nurses on Duty Day and Night to Aid Patients in Hospital

Employees of the new Neblett Hospital have been carefully selected by Dr. R. A. Neblett and Dr. R. P. Jarrett in order to render the greatest service to the patients in the institution. All employees will be especially qualified for the work which they will have in connection with the hospital.

Miss Lucille Stengel, who has been nurse with Dr. Neblett for two years, is head nurse and is in charge of the clinical laboratory, which is fully equipped for all routine procedure. Miss Stengel has taken special courses in the Terrell Laboratories in Amarillo in addition to her work as a registered nurse.

Miss Lillian Chambers is bookkeeper and in charge of the office work.

Mrs. Alma Fuller is day nurse and in charge of the hospital and operating room. She is a graduate of Baylor Hospital School of Nursing. She has taken post graduate study in obstetrics and gynecology.

Mrs. Mary E. Daniels is night nurse and is on duty throughout the night at the hospital.

Other nurses will be added as the business of the institution demands. With the signal system of the hospital and the limited number of rooms in the institution, patients may be assured of practically the same personal supervision that would be given by a special nurse who might be assigned to their case.

Judge: "What makes you think this man was drunk?"

Judge: "That doesn't prove he was drunk."

Officer: "No, your honor; but there wasn't any man in the auto."

the need of the surgeon while at his work.

Nitrous oxide and oxygen anesthetic equipment is on hand in the operating room for use of the physicians, or in other parts of the hospital.

Cabinets line the walls of the operating room which have been filled with instruments which may be necessary for a surgeon in handling any type of case.

Nursery Room

In the nursery is an infant resuscitator, to be used when a new born babe finds it difficult to breathe. Bassinets, dressing tables, scales, and other equipment make the nursery complete in every detail. The nursery is enclosed with plate glass windows so that visitors may view the babies without disturbing them or otherwise subjecting them to exposure to colds or other contagious diseases prevalent among babies.

Throughout the building is used the ultra-violet light, furnishing artificial sunlight for treatment of such afflictions as malnutrition, rickets and whooping cough.

To the other extreme in light is the infra-red lamp and diathermy machine, which furnishes deep heat for rheumatism, arthritis, and sprains. This machine is also equipped to be used as an electric knife for operative purposes.

A complete X-Ray and fluoroscope service is available.

A three way signal system has been installed. Each room is connected with the head nurse's desk, and she may be called by all patients. The private office of the doctors are connected by signal system with the head nurse and the business office. Another signal makes it possible for the doctors to call to or from any part of the hospital.

NUMBER TWO

After his internship in New Orleans, Dr. Neblett decided to locate in Canyon, on account of the possibilities offered here, not only in the practice of general medicine, but with the view that eventually it would be possible to build a hospital. This dream is being fulfilled in the opening of his new hospital.

Dr. Neblett selected as his associate a young man who has grown to manhood in Canyon, Dr. Robert P. Jarrett. After finishing West Texas State College, Dr. Jarrett took his medical work at Galveston. Last year he served as intern in Kansas City. Dr. Jarrett is the son of Dean and Mrs. R. P. Jarrett of W. T.

Good Location

The new hospital is located at 16th Street and Sixth Avenue. The location was chosen in order that it be as centrally located in Canyon as possible, near the business district, yet far enough away from the railroad and highways so as to provide a quiet zone. Caliche has been spread on the streets leading to the hospital, and a WPA project has been forwarded to Washington to top the street with asphalt during this fall. The pavement will be widened in order that ample parking room may be made available.

The building is one story with basement for the heating and air conditioning plant. It is constructed of brick and concrete, making the structure fire-proof. Every detail of construction that might possibly add to the convenience and comfort of the patients was carried out in the construction.

Careful Construction

Harold Walsh of Amarillo was the architect and George Small of Canyon was the contractor for the building.

The building is constructed in the form of a hollow square. It faces the east with opening on 16th Street.

In the east wing of the building are located the reception room, business office, private offices of the doctors, four treatment rooms, X-Ray room, dark room and clinical laboratory.

In the south wing are located five private rooms, one ward room and three rooms which may be converted into private rooms, together with a private waiting room for hospital patrons.

The west wing constitutes the operating, sterilizing and delivery rooms.

There is a total floor space of 4,000 square feet in the building.

parts of the building in which the maximum of light is demanded. No outside view is possible through glass bricks. The operating room, the delivery room, and the office are equipped with this modern and effective type of construction.

The entire building is equipped with indirect lighting.

A gas furnace has been installed, which will maintain uniform temperature in all parts of the building. The temperature is automatically controlled.

The building is insulated throughout, thereby making it much more comfortable for both patients and visitors during the winter as well as the summer months.

The private offices of the doctors are unique in that they are finished in knotty pine in order to get away from the severe atmosphere of the average office.

All of the floors are covered with asphalt tile.

They say that the early bird gets the worm, but we've always wondered why the worm insists on getting out early.

Chamber Commerce Is Highly Pleased In Hospital Project

When Dr. R. A. Neblett announced on the first of April that he would erect a new hospital in Canyon, W. A. Warren, president of the Chamber of Commerce expressed the pleasure of this organization that the city was to secure this new public facility.

The Chamber of Commerce has extended to Dr. Neblett very valuable aid in compiling information regarding the project, and has assisted him in every way possible.

"Not many towns have received such fine institutions as the new hospital without the citizens making donations to the enterprise," stated Mr. Warren. "From a civic standpoint, the least Canyon citizens can do is to see to it that the streets around the hospital are paved for the benefit of those who will use the hospital."

"The people of this community certainly appreciate the progressive spirit of Dr. Neblett and his staff in this enterprise," stated Mr. Warren.

Hitler is one of the world's greatest dictators, but then you must realize that Hitler is not a married man.
